

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. REPORT
OF THE DIRECTORS
OF THE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the Honorable Court of Common Council of the City of New Haven :

GENTLEMEN :—The eighth annual report of the Directors of the Free Public Library is respectfully submitted.

The library contained, at the close of the library year ending September 30th, 1894, 27,749 volumes. Four thousand two hundred volumes were added during the year; 216 volumes were worn out and withdrawn. The number of new cards issued to borrowers was 5,546 ; that is 531 more than the previous year. The number of persons holding library cards was 10,061, a gain of 1,610 during the year.

The number of volumes circulated was 203,242, an increase for the year of 40,875 volumes.

The Board of Directors has carried out the rearrangement of the rooms of the library, and has made much-needed improvements. The result gives great satisfaction, the library being much more convenient, and giving largely increased accommodations for the public reading rooms. The expense of these improvements and furniture has entirely exhausted the building fund, out of which cost of repairs and furniture has been paid since the building has been occupied by the library. There will consequently be an additional demand on the ordinary appropriation hereafter for the purpose of repairs.

The receipts from the Marett fund for the future will be less than heretofore, as the surplus which accumulated during the period of litigation has now been expended. From this source can be obtained next year only the regular income ; consequently the purchase of books will be curtailed unless the City makes larger appropriations for the library ; especially since the large increase in the use of the library renders the running expenses larger. The reports of the Treasurer and the Librarian are submitted with this report, and give details.

The estimated expenses for the year ensuing are as follows :

Books	$2,500
Periodicals	1,000
Binding	1,000
Rent of old quarters	1,800
Lighting	900
Salaries	5,500
Fuel	600
Printing and stationery	300
Catalogues	250
Insurance	750
Miscellaneous	400
Total,	$15,000

The board reports with sorrow the death of their associate, Mr. Anson K. Brown, who was serving the third year of his term as director. Mr. Brown showed great interest in the library, attending the meetings of the board regularly, and visiting the library at other times frequently. His genial presence and helpful counsel have been greatly missed since his lamented sudden death. The board adopted the following resolutions at the time of his death :

Resolved, That by the death of Anson K. Brown the Board of Directors of the Free Public Library are conscious of having lost a member whose faithful, conscientious and intelligent discharge of his duties as director had won for him the sincere regard of all connected with the board ; and whose personal worth, courteous demeanor, and blameless character was obvious to all with whom he came in contact.

Resolved, That the profound sympathy of this board is tendered to the family of the deceased in this hour of affliction, with the assurance that every member associated with him in the work of this commission feels not only that the public has lost a faithful official, but that we are individually pained at being deprived of the pleasant association of a personal friend.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the board, and that a copy of the same, to be signed by the mayor, the president of the board and the secretary, be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

Respectfully submitted, on behalf of the Board of Directors.

A. MAXCY HILLER,
President.

VIRGIL F. McNEIL,
Secretary.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 30, 1894.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

*To the Board of Directors of the Free Public Library of
New Haven :*

GENTLEMEN :—I submit herewith the report of the Librarian for the library year ending September 30, 1894.

NUMBER OF VOLUMES.

The number of books added was as follows :

By purchase	3,788
By exchange	32
By gift	268
By magazines bound	117
Total	4,200
Number withdrawn, etc.,	216
		3,984
Reported last year		23,765
Total in library Sept. 30, 1894		27,749

There are besides several hundred volumes of duplicates for sale or exchange, and collections not belonging to the library, deposited for purposes of reference. A list of donors is given at the end of this report.

SPECIAL PURCHASES.

Quite a number of sets of periodicals were purchased, which have a permanent value for reference. Among them were included Catholic World, Lippincott's Magazine, North American Review, Dublin University Magazine, Revue des Deux Mondes (1856-1888), Universal Review, American Monthly Review, Hardwicke's Science Gossip, American Quarterly Review, American Review, Nile's Register, Popular Science Review, Andover Review, Journal of Franklin Institute, Illustrated London News, Journal of the Society of Arts, Atheneum (London). The contents of almost all these are included in Poole's and Fletcher's indexes, and therefore are sure to be useful all the time. There are daily calls for periodicals which the library does not possess. Another important purchase was that of the specifications and drawings of the United States Patent office, so far as they could be obtained from the department, at an expense of $400. Two hundred dollars was expended for music, including some of the principal oratorios, masses, song composers, and piano solo and duet. Over 130 volumes, mostly bound in half morocco, were added. Quite a large number of duplicate works of fiction were added. When it is remembered that each work of fiction was issued on average about thirty times, it is seen that of the most popular works many copies are required. This demand is not at all completely met even now. For new novels it probably never will be met unless some one makes a specific gift to the library for that purpose. So long as the funds of the library are as limited as they are now it seems unwise to spend much more on fiction than is spent now, which amounts to perhaps twenty-five per cent of the total book expenditure, besides a large amount for re-binding.

NEWSPAPER AID.

The library has again been fortunate in having the titles of new books printed from time to time by the Journal and Courier.

NUMBER OF BORROWERS.

The number of new cards issued was 5,546, 531 more (about 10 per cent) than last year. Beginning September, 1894, extra cards were also issued allowing the holders of the regular cards to draw an additional book, provided that it should not be a book of fiction or a current number of a magazine. A small number have been applied for and issued. It is expected that this will lead to a larger use of non-fiction, and be a help to more serious readers, who can profitably use two books at a time on many subjects. The total number of borrowers, September 30, 1894, was 10,061, about one in nine or ten of the population of the City. If provisions could be made for delivery stations or branch libraries on the outskirts of the City, probably very many who find the distance of the library a serious hindrance to using it would be enabled to draw books. If the library were regarded simply as a means of recreation, it would be of little moment whether those at a distance could use it easily. But the library is getting to be quite a factor in school work, and its use by distant schools would probably be greatly increased if special facilities for delivery of books could be offered.

CIRCULATION.

The number of volumes issued each month was as follows :

October, 1893	15,270
November	16,176
December	16,220
January, 1894	19,497
February	19,195
March	21,756
April	18,309
May	16,008
June	15,055
July	14,950
August	15,424
September	15,382
Total	203,242

The increase for the year was 40,875 ; about twenty-five per cent. In two years the increase has been 71,894 ; over fifty per cent. Last year the increase in the number of borrowers was about the same as the increase in circulation ; this year the increase in the number of borrowers was ten per cent, while the increase in the circulation was twenty-five per cent. This seems to show that those using the library have read more books on the average. This corresponds to the general opinion that more people were out of work and had more time for reading.

CHARACTER OF THE CIRCULATION.

The proportion of fiction used was less than last year. There has been a decrease almost every year, amounting altogether to twelve per cent in seven years. The following table shows the number of books of the various classes taken out during the year, and the percentages :

Philosophy	1,104	.5
Religion and mythology	1,960	.9
Sociology	2,095	1.0
Language	320	.2
Natural science	4,265	2.1
Useful arts	3,531	1.7
Fine arts and amusements	4,126	2.0
Geography and travel	6,798	3.3
Biography	5,675	2.8
History	6,861	3.4
Literature and miscellany	8,930	7.0
Current magazines	5,187
Poetry and drama	2,892	1.4
Adult fiction	106,845	52.8
Juvenile fiction	42,653	21.0

REMOVAL OF THE AGE LIMIT.

Following the example of other libraries, the provision that children must be over twelve years old in order to take out library cards was repealed. This fact is not generally known, and consequently few younger than twelve years have taken out cards as a result of the measure.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE BUILDING.

The extensive changes which the Board of Directors have made in the arrangement of the library, and other improvements in the building, have proved greatly beneficial. The periodical and reference room has twenty-five per cent greater capacity than before, and is much better lighted and is much more quiet and otherwise more pleasant than before. The newspaper reading room has a third greater capacity for readers. The new arrangement, according to which the readers stand while reading, has proved successful in reducing considerably the use of the room by the loafers. The winter months, however, will give the hardest test. The new arrangement of the bookcases is much more convenient than before. The book capacity of the first floor is also considerably increased. The working space for the cataloguing department is a vast improvement.

THE INFORMATION DESK.

Lately the attention of the public was called more forcibly to the function of the library in the matter of giving personal assistance to readers desiring it by the establishment of an information desk. This seems to meet a want, because such assistance is needed in many cases where it would not be asked for, for one reason or another.

SCHOOL WORK.

As I have said above, there is considerable use of the library by the teachers and pupils of the public schools. This use ought to be greatly extended. Fortunately the library is all the time gradually becoming better able to meet the wants of the schools. But the experience of other cities teaches that a more vital connection should exist, and a more systematic plan be adopted for this end.

NEEDS OF THE LIBRARY.

The library needs greater resources for all departments of its work. Among the larger cities of New England there is none so deficient in library privileges for the public as New Haven. It was the last to have a public library, and its expenditures have been small as compared with the total expenditures of the City, and as compared with the amounts expended in other cities. The public libraries of Bridgeport and Hartford each expend over twenty-five per cent more in proportion to population ; Worcester expends sixty per cent more ; while Springfield expends one hundred and fifty per cent more. All the comparisons which I have been enabled to make show that this library gets far less than its share of the public money. I think that in the matter of schools, fire department, police and public works the expenditures in New Haven are fully equal to the average of the cities above named. But in the matter of the public library the expenditure is from twenty-five per cent to one hundred and fifty per cent less. On the other hand, the needs are, so far as I know, as great as in any city. There is not any one of these libraries which has as small a number of volumes to meet demands, or as large a number of school children and teachers, mechanics and others to whom the public library is of daily use. Here the circulation has increased fifty per cent in two years, and the other demands upon the library for reference books, periodicals, etc., are all the time increasing. To bring the library up to date considerably larger appropriations or gifts are necessary.

Respectfully submitted,

W. K. STETSON,

Librarian.
